Hawaii

Hawaii, aptly called the Paradise of the Pacific, is truly a treasureland of beauty. Flowers of brilliant hues, inviting beaches, azure skies, majestic craters, towering palms, and a profusion of greenness combine to create a splendor that is uniquely Hawaiian. Each of the more than twenty islands shares one quality — beauty; and Maui, Hawaii, and Oahu reflect this beauty.

Maui, the Valley Island, is a land of extravagant panoramas. Waterfalls stream from lofty heights to flow through tropical forests, thus making their way to the sea.

Hawaii Island, the largest of the group, offers the awesome sight of two active volcanoes contrasting with the gentle loveliness of an orchid adorned landscape.

On Oahu are found Diamond Head, one of the landmarks of the islands, and world-famed Waikiki beach.

The islander, leisurely going his way suggests the comfortable atmosphere of Hawaii. The Hawaiian culture began more than a thousand years ago when a group of Polynesians came to the islands. Today the true descendants of the bronze-skinned natives are but one small part of the mixture of nationalities which work together to make Hawaii's hospitality a delight. The Hawaiians, proud of their heritage, cling to age-old traditions that are world famous. The hula dancer, who gracefully enacts scenic descriptions and stories of romance, is often found at the Hawaiian feast, the luau. Featured here are such exotic foods as baked bananas with pineapple, curry in papaya shells, roasted pig, fish and other sea foods cooked Polynesian style with poi.

The discovery of these islands is attributed to John Cook, a captain of the British Navy, who let the world know of his findings in 1778. Several years later King Kamehameha I, ruler of Hawaii Island, began his ten year struggle for control of the major islands. With his task victoriously completed in 1810, he continued to rule wisely until his death in 1819. King Kamehameha is still honored by the Hawaiians for his work in uniting the islands.

Having petitioned for statehood since the Spanish-American war, Hawaii was finally proclaimed our fiftieth state on August 21, 1959.

Hawaii might be best described as a state of mind, wherein one may truly find the serenity and beauty so characteristic of these "paradise isles beyond the sunset."

In Admiration . . .

We are indeed grateful to have the opportunity to dedicate the 1963 Green and White to one of the leading and most beloved members of our faculty and community.

Students who know her are well aware of her willingness to solve both personal and academic problems. A true friend, she is in turn deserving of all the affection, trust, and respect she receives.

Having received her Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Wisconsin, she taught first at the Y.W.C.A. and then at Hosmer Hall School for Girls, both in St. Louis, Missouri.

After coming to California, this honored pedagogue enjoyed a motion picture and radio career as a vocalist, a fact generally unknown to our student body.

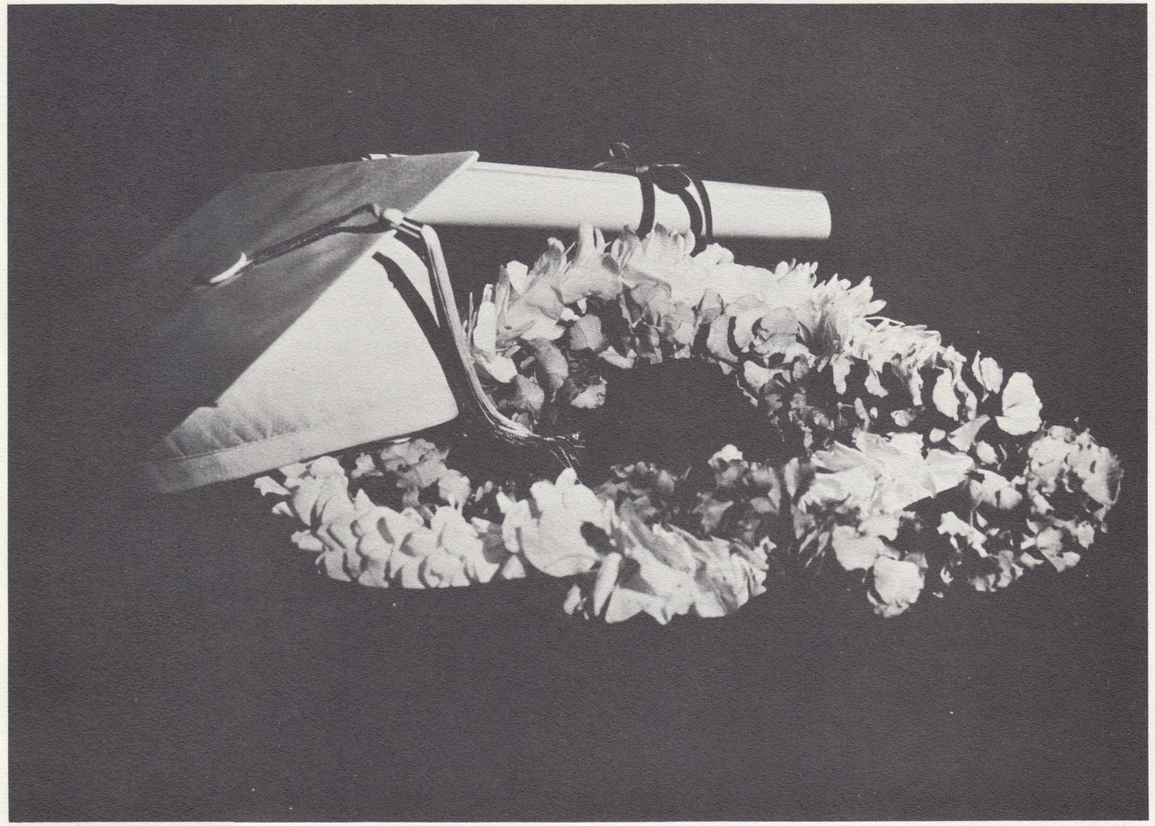
In 1934 she turned again to the teaching profession and began her career at Inglewood High School. Her first appointment was that of teaching music, a field in which she derived great satisfaction, being herself endowed with both musical talent and appreciation. She helped stage various school productions, one of which was a Gilbert and Sullivan hit, "Trial by Jury." Pursuing her quest for growth through knowledge, she completed her requirements for the Master of Science degree in 1958, thus reaching another professional goal.

Yielding to wanderlust, she has toured Panama, Costa Rica, Mexico and a great portion of the United States. Only two years ago she spent a most enjoyable summer visiting the major countries of Europe.

Most of our seniors recognize her primarily as a counselor, for she has guided them successfully throughout their high school years. Never failing to be available when she was needed, she has shown sincere interest in the welfare of every student in the class of '63.

It is with utmost regret that we realize this is her last year at I.H.S. She will long be remembered for her unceasing efforts on behalf of the many students who through the years have looked to her for help and direction.

It is entirely possible that by now you have realized we are dedicating this yearbook to Mrs. Mildred Munro, citizen "outstanding."



What could be more symbolic to our graduating class than the lei, which is often given as a token of good-bye in the islands? As each senior dons his cap and gown to receive his diploma, he realizes that he is bidding farewell to a memorable part of his life. As commencement ends he has mixed emotions. Feeling proud of his accomplishments of the past four years, he is eager to step out into the world. Nevertheless, he is already aware of a nostalgia for past experiences never to be recaptured.

Senior Class of 1963

Seniors - Activity!

As the class of '63 leaves I.H.S. they can happily recall four years of successful class government and activities.

As freshmen they eagerly participated in class cabinet, a new phase of school life for them. A car wash headed the year's activities followed by the transformation of a car into a resplendent flower-laden carriage for the frosh grid princess.

The biggest event of their sophomore year was the class sports-nite, which yielded tremendous returns and was greatly enjoyed by all who attended.

The junior year found class government looking ahead to the Junior Prom by staging several money-making projects — the car wash, the sweat shirt sale, and the always popular sportsnite, this year featuring Mrs. Santa Claus. Proudly they selected their senior rings, sweaters, and class colors, turquoise and white. On April 23 our cafeteria became a medievil castle, setting the stage for the Junior Prom, Camelot.

The highlight of the seniors' first semester was the Senior Prom, Blue Orient. On the evening of December 7, couples found themselves dancing in an enchanting atmosphere of oriental splendor. Their final semester at I.H.S. found the calendar even fuller than usual highlighted by the delightful senior play, Sabrina Fair, the enjoyable Senior Holiday, and the traditional Senior Banquet. Grad Night at the Paladium came as a fitting climax to the year's bill of fare. Following the serious dignity of the most important occasions in their high school careers, Baccalaureate and Commencement, seniors danced the night away, not totally unaware of a certain sentimental wistfulness.

Foreign Exchange Student

Elice Munerato, our A.F.S. student from Brazil

This year we have had the pleasure of having petite, Brazilian-born Elice Munerato as our eighth foreign exchange student. Unmistakeably Latin-American with her delightful Portuguese accent, she has added definite charm to our campus.

Wishing to take advantage of our school activities, Elice became American Field Service Club President and a member of Senior Honor Board and Los Conquistadores. Since student government was non-existent in her private girls' school in Rio de Janeiro, Elice regarded Student Council not only as a very interesting class but also as her favorite course.

Somewhat typical of the American teenager of today, she rates hamburgers and cherry cokes high on her menu. In her spare time she enjoys playing the guitar, reading, bowling and swimming.

After graduation she will leave her "adopted" American family, Dr. and Mrs. Peary Berger and daughters Alexis and Heidi, and join a group of A.F.S. students to take a three weeks' tour of the United States, stopping in Washington, D. C. to hear an address given by President Kennedy. Her plans, after returning to Brazil, include a college education, culminating in a career in the field of sociology.

Of her past year, Elice said: "Before I came here I knew this would be a very interesting year for me. The friendship of the nice, joyous people of Inglewood High School has truly made this one of the happiest years of my life."

Associated Student Body Presidents

DALE LINCOLN
Student Body President, 1st Semester, 1962-63

The First Semester Student Council was under the capable leadership of Dale Lincoln. He stated that the experience was most beneficial to him in that he learned further the ways of government and came in contact with many wonderful people. His most memorable experience while holding the office of Student Body President was seeing the tremendous school spirit at the Inglewood exchange rally.

Dale has shown his interest in Inglewood's government program in the past by serving as Sophomore President and Junior Representative. He was active in Big I, C.S.F., Senior Honor Board, and A Cappella Choir.

The cross country, wrestling, and swimming teams consumed some of his free time as well as extra-curricular activities such as hunting, fishing, and, of course, girls.

Dale plans to further his education by attending college and majoring in business administration.

Don Gardner accepted the highest position to be bestowed upon an individual at Inglewood High School, the office of Student Body President, on February 1, 1963. Student government was not new to Don since he had been Junior Class President, Senior Representative and Commissioner of Publicity, as well as a member of the House of Representatives. Don was a member of the well-known campus organizations, Big I and Senior Honor Board, and served as Sentinel Service Club President.

In his spare time he enjoys playing golf, a sport in which he has lettered three years. Another of his favorite interests is caring for his 1941 Chrysler, which he fondly calls "Bud."

Following through with his interest of civics, which he rated as his favorite class this year, Don plans to study law or business economics after graduation.

With the Unicameral system in full effect at the beginning of the year, the Student Council turned its attention to the unusual and challenging problems which annually confront student government. Aspiring to awaken everyone's interest in better behavior standards, first semester council initiated "Project Pride," a program consisting of three phases: 1) Clean campus, 2) Dress standards, and 3) Assembly conduct. Assuming leadership in giving impetus to other worthwhile activities such as the Navajo Indian can drive, which won all out student participation, our Council representatives found much to do. Taking time out from their busy agenda, student leaders heard guest speakers and attended special conferences to learn about other school's governments so that Inglewood High might continue to maintain its position of qualified leadership among schools in the state of California.

Second semester found Student Council busily engaged in a full agenda of school activities. To break the communication barrier between our leadership group and the student body and to increase publicity of Honor Spirit where the principal goals which Council believed to be of vital importance to our growth as a leading high school in Southern California. Pep Week was planned by the committee method so that it indeed ran smoothly, thus deserving all the attention it received as a focal highlight of the year. Among Council's other projects to round out the semester's schedule included continued correspondence with our Grecian foster child, Ecaterine Ulahoc, date night, a noon movie, and, last but not least, a complete revision of the by-laws.

The 1963 Green and White has been produced through the combined and consistant efforts of each and every member of this year's staff. Numerous hours have been spent during and after school in feverish work so that deadlines could be met. Putting forth their very best talents and ingenuity, staff members became individually responsible for layouts, captions, headlines, copy writing, snaps, full page photography, sketches, cover design and, above all, an original approach to presentation.

Thus with pride in achievement and best wishes to all, the Annual Staff presents "Hawaii" to the students and faculty of Inglewood High.

It is difficult to realize the amount of work that goes into the making of our student paper. In publishing the El Centinela, the staff works hard writing copy and striving to meet its deadlines. Through combined efforts of an efficient staff, advised by Mr. Sickler, and the I.H.S. print shop, a school newspaper is produced containing articles of interest to the entire student body every two weeks. Among the features are pictures, sports, spotlights, articles of personal interest, student opinions, and school trends.

We owe a debt of gratitude to the El Centinela for the part it plays in promoting school spirit and in keeping the students of I.H.S. informed of what is going on around campus.

Top Ten

Annually there is announced the names of the top ten seniors who have attained the highest grade point averages. Although the basis of selection is superior scholarship achievement, each person has taken advantage of a multi-faceted high school life to make himself a well-rounded individual. It is not at all unusual to find these students taking part in sports, clubs, Student Council, and various locally-sponsored contents.
It should be realized, however, that attaining a position among the top ten occurs only as a result of consistent academic endeavor.

Lilliom, by Ferenc Molner, was presented by the National Thespian Society on November 16 and 17, under the direction of Mrs. Beverly Benedict. Lilliom, barker and bouncer for Mrs. Muscat's carousel, marries Julie, one of the numerous servant girls who follow him in droves. The jealous Mrs. Muscat fires Lilliom, leaving the couple with no means of support. Upon learning that Julie is expecting a baby, Lilliom plots with Fixer, a friend of bad repute (played by Leonard Rouw) to make some "fast money." Throughout the play, Lilliom is tormented by a tragic inability to express his true feelings, or even bring happiness to those he loves.

Clubs In Action

In contrast to the serene beauty of the abundant foilage, the cerulean sky, the sun-warmed earth and the genial, attractive natives, one may find fierce rugged coastlines such as this. Yet, there is beauty here also. Foamy white waves breaking upon jagged black lava cliffs present a symphony of sound and a dazzling spray of color!

The Junior Class assembly in September combined a class talent show with a preview of plans for the coming year. It wasn't long until the Juniors were coming by the droves to class cabinet meetings to hear the latest about the choice of a senior ring! With Sentinal Daze came a special "baby bottle drinking contest," sponsored by the class of '64. This group also staged a sportsnight in the gym on December 14. Then came more decisions; what sweater to choose, a theme and plans for the Junior Prom . . . and work, work, work! Senior Holiday found the group trodding Senior Square for the first time (legally!) — and appearing anxious to take over that position permanently, as they soon will!

Class Cabinet spurs much activity for Sophomores.

Salesmanship, an important part of the Sophomore Sucker Sale.

The class of '65 didn't sit still! They began the year with the always popular money raising activity — a sucker sale! This was followed with "The Reindeer Romp," a sportsnight. The Sophomores who didn't spend their time stomping around the well "decked halls," played volleyball, basketball, and other sports in the large gym.

This "older half of the under class" again added to their treasury during Sentinal Daze with the profits from an ice cream sale. (By all reports the ice cream was delicious!)

As tradition has it, the Sophomores held a Junior Achievement orientation, in which sponsors of this organization invited interested students to participate in a "junior business." The class also had two well conducted campaign assemblies.

With the second semester came another project: the co-sponsorship of the American Field Service Benefit Concert. Another industrious undertaking was the class car wash — a splashing success!

The success of these various activities is due to the cabinet members, especially the executive boards. The class as a whole was well represented in council by cabinet representatives Sharon McManus and Norm Brones first semester, and Norm Boone and Karen Krug second semester, in addition to the executive boards. English class representatives to cabinet reported weekly on the activities and programs planned for the sophomores. The meetings were well organized with many students participating in committees. The executive board initiated plans in their Monday lunch-hour conferences with the class advisors. The result of much hard work and participation was an extremely interesting year!

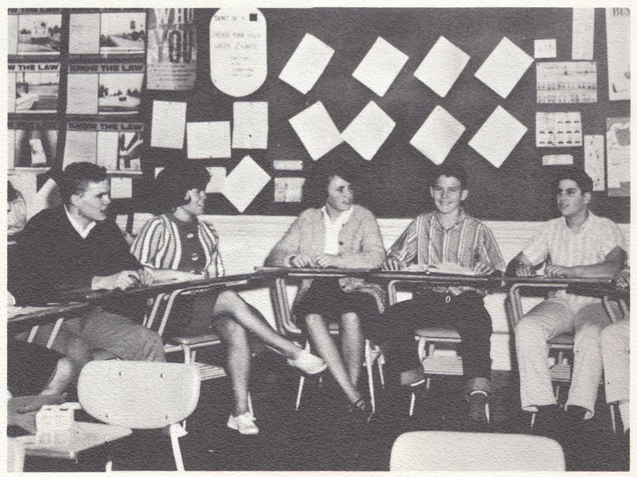
Freshman Cabinet discuss future class activities



1st and 2nd Semester Freshman Class Officers

According to tradition, this year's freshman class, while yet students at Crozier, launched its senior high school career by electing a fine group of officers from among their 650 members. Many of their cabinet meetings have been devoted to a discussion of precisely what constitutes good citizenship and how to foster its growth and continuance here at Inglewood High.

By sponsoring the sale of "Sentinel Spotlight," a history of Inglewood's illustrious football teams, and by helping to make a "Sports Night" a success, this enthusiastic group actively involved itself in extra-curricular projects which contributed notably to the atmosphere of strong, unified spirit so pervasive on campus. They were duly excited and thrilled to claim sponsorship of a lovely princess, Jill Mendelsohn, at the Homecoming Game; and in, perhaps, a less impressive manner, they enjoyed participating in a lively contest of skill and wits during "Sentinel Daze."

Certainly the officers and the class they represent experienced a wonderful year which encourages them to anticipate their next three years with high hopes for accomplishment and reward.

Makaha Beach is particularly famous for its magnificent waves, which make it one of the most popular and yet dangerous surfing places in the world. Many surfing enthusiasts travel to Hawaii to experience the unsurpassed thrill of riding waves which reach the speed of 30 miles per hour and gain heights of 25 feet or more. Minutes after this photo was taken, the wall closed over our stalwart surfer; however, braving the treacherous coral reef in the foreground, he made it to shore.

Kicking-off the 1962-63 season by defeating Mt. Carmel (21-19), and Torrance High (20-6), the Sent gridders showed great promise.

However, the Big Varsity eleven were edged by Mira Costa, 7-6. Their second league encounter placed hope once again in Coach Bill Peters and the faithful Student Body as the Sents stomped South High, 28-7. North High, the eventual Bay League Champs, cooled Inglewood by a score of 20-7.

Probably the best-played and most exciting game of the year was with the always tough Hawthorne Cougars. With only 38 seconds remaining, the Sents scored, upsetting once again Hawthorne, by a score of 31-27.

Morningside High, cross-town rival, proved to be no sweat, as the Sents rolled all over them, 20-0.

Seven members of the team joined "The Knee Club", as injuries proved to be a major factor in the latter part of the season.

In any case, the Inglewood gridders fought hard all the way. They deserve great recognition, as do Mr. Peters, Mr. Benjamin, Mr. Hale, and Mr. Chick who coached them so faithfully.

Finishing Bay League Champs, the Inglewood High Varsity Water Polo team experienced a season long to be remembered. A performance record of 6-0-0 is one which the team, Coach Bob Hoffman, and the entire student body may well be proud.

Beating Santa Monica, Morningside, Leuzinger, Hawthorne, and Redondo led to the deciding game for the league championship. Whipping Mira Costa, 15-8 gave Inglewood the well-deserved title they had been looking for.

Sentinels entered C. I. F., but were shut down by a tough Oxnard team, 7-2.

Baseball

Ineligibility proved to be a major factor in the team's low standing this year. Three valuable boys were lost early in the season.

Highlighting the 1962-63 season were the victories over Hawthorne, 3-2, and North High, 6-5. The North High contest was probably one of the better-played games by the Sentinels all season.

Inglewood's swatters also participated in the Hawthorne Tournament during Easter Vacation at the Hawthorne and Lennox fields. The Sentinels grabbed fourth place in competition.

The Varsity horsehidders, however, have been recipients of poor attendance throughout the season. Remarked one player, "There are only 30 fans at every game—all mothers or girl friends."

Coach Benjamin and his squad worked hard each day during the season, and the combined efforts of all concerned resulted in team efficiency.

Varsity tracksters work out daily at the Farm.

This past season has been a record breaking one for the I. H. S. Track team under the able leadership of head coach Dennis Bambauer, and assistant coach "Finney" Hale.

Although handicapped at the season's beginning with new and inexperienced members, the Cindermen's season proved to be a victorious one, climaxed with the unexpected win over Morningside.

Local newspapers had picked Morningside to win over our Sentinels. On March 19, 1963, the Sent tracksters roared out of the locker room with the intentions of beating the Monarchs until they couldn't "roar" any more. And that is exactly what they did!

Rex Springer and Jon Hill took first and second respectively in the high hurdles, with Glenn Grodrian winning the 100-yard dash. A close score was recorded in the 800 relay with Morningside 51, Inglewood 48. A never forgotten race—when Jon Hill coming from ten yards behind, whipped the "red man," making the final score Inglewood 53, Morningside 51.

G.A.A.

The 1962-63 G.A.A. completed an exciting year of life saving, synchronized swimming, playing tennis, softball and volleyball, and participating in bowling, modern dance and folk and square dancing. This year was highlighted by rallies, playdays and banquets.

Girls athletically inclined are urged to join in the fun and activities of G.A.A. Individual yearly awards for participation are given to the girls who have participated regularly and served G.A.A. in some capacity. G.A.A. chooses a G.A.A. girl of the month and also gives to a senior member, "the most outstanding G.A.A. senior award" at the final banquet.

G.A.A. encourages all girls who have an interest in sports and recreational activities to join. Whether or not you are athletic, there are many interesting jobs and other activities open to you. Remember: If you are interested in G.A.A., G.A.A. is interested in you.

Yell leaders Nancy Yackman, Barbara Haas, Queen, and Bev Chapman.

Administration

Beckoning the Hawaiian people to follow, King Kamehameha I conquered and united the major islands. This impressive statue, garbed in the early Hawaiian cloak, malo and helmet, stands before the Judiciary building in Honolulu as a fitting tribute to the wise ruler of the newly formed Hawaiian kingdom.

Principal's Message

Hawaii's admission as the fiftieth of these United States was indeed an historical and fortuitous event—a symbol of expanding democratic philosophy at a time when such a philosophy is most needed. Sharing along with the islanders a deep pride in the beauty, rich tradition, and tensile strength which have become an inextricable part of our country's identity, we look forward to continued growth and progress in the future.

The future promises much to you, Sentinels, if you have the courage to accept its challenges and the faith to believe in its significance. Ahead lies an awesome and unprecedented test of man's ability to adjust not only to the vast geography of universal boundaries but also to an acceptance of universal brotherhood. Working together in a collective effort to insure world peace and prosperity, mankind will be able to realize optimum conditions for physical, intellectual, and spiritual existence.

Tomorrow is today's badge of achievement if we can but consistently sustain our interest in the educational and moral aims which characterize democractic ideals and American leadership.

To each and everyone of you I extend my very best wishes for success and happiness.

We are fortunate to have an extensive laboratory system at I.H.S. Our sophomores take full advantage of their equipment in order to increase their biological learning. Our newly-installed chemistry lab is indeed the pride of the science department. Last year our language lab program was instituted and proves to be extremely beneficial, especially to the first-year students.

Having a strong academic program, Inglewood High offers an interesting diversity of elective courses which appeal not only to the college bound student but also to the student who will seek employment after graduation.

Typing, Mechanical Drawing, and Art are but a few of the very popular classes which undeniably help prepare young adults to undertake future occupations.

Every school needs devoted workers who give outstanding service over a long period of years. Such faculty members are Mrs. Sara Jane Scoville and Mrs. Charlotte Richter.

First impressions are important, it is said, and Mrs. Richter gives a good first impression of Inglewood High School to the many visitors who enter the principal's office. She is never too busy to be friendly or to answer the many questions of students and visitors.

Dr. Fred C. Adams, Principal of Inglewood High, stated that "Mrs. Richter is the embodiment of all a good secretary should be." She has served under three previous principals. Actually her career here started in 1942 as secretary to Mrs. "Mother" Knudson, Director of Research and Guidance for the old Centinella Valley Union High School District. During these years, Mrs. Richter not only handled the affairs of the school, but helped carry out "Mother" Knudson's war correspondence with many boys overseas.

Mrs. Richter is active in her church and in civic affairs. She has put in many extra hours to keep the school running smoothly. Her retirement was officially effective on February 15, 1963. She will long be remembered and missed by many students and faculty members.

There is hardly a facet in the school that Mrs. Scoville hasn't touched in some way. She began teaching at Inglewood High in 1921 and has played an active part in the affairs of the school.

Most students know Mrs. Scoville as a warm-hearted typing teacher. Her classes are filled beyond capacity and many more students clamor to get in. As one of the prominent typing teachers in Southern California, she has trained many winners in the state typing contests.

For many years Mrs. Scoville served as Girls' League Advisor, and could be seen spending many hours at the field supervising hot dog sales and other activities. She has also been an advisor to several graduating classes.

Mrs. Scoville originated many traditions at I.H.S., such as the Junior Flower Girls at graduation. She also inaugurated a new era in assemblies by bringing in programs of greater interest to the students.

This active woman has served as faculty club president and now she is an advisor to the Alumni Association. In this latter capacity she supervises the publication of an alumni newspaper.

Aside from high school activities, Mrs. Scoville was the acting Dean of Women when El Camino College was founded.

Those who have known Mrs. Scoville as an advisor or a teacher know that she is a person who just keeps on giving.
